Giant Assembly Historic Move

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope John has summoned an ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church aimed at uniting the Christian forces of the world. His action was historic and unexpected.

The Pontiff made the announcement on the anniver-sary of the conversion of St. Paul. The wording of the Vati-can statement indicated that Christian churches outside the Roman Catholic Church may be invited to participate in the council, at least as observers.

A Beginning Only

AT A RECENT CONVENTION of leading lawyers in Ottawa Mr. Diefenbaker's proposed Bill of Rights was vigorously and perhaps unfairly condemned. It is, said Mr. Bora Laskin, dean of the faculty of law at Toronto University, "disappointing in its approach, unneces-sarily limited in its application and ineffective in substance."

Mr. Laskin, Professor Frank Scott, of McGill, and other eminent lawyers are dissatisfied with the Bill of Rights, as written by Mr. Diefenbaker, because it fails to at-tack the only real danger to civil liberties in Canada.

That danger comes not from the national Parliament nor from any private organization. It comes, has come so far, only from provin-cial legislatures, chiefly the legislature of Quebec. But the Bill of Rights specifically exempts the provincial legislatures.

It asks Parliament to promise that certain civil liberties will never be infringed by parliamentary action which no Parliament in recent times (except in time of war) has ever contemplated.

This academic, self-denying or dinance is strictly confined to federal authority. The provincial legislatures are left to do as they please within their own jurisdiction and their jurisdiction over civil liberties is neither restricted nor even defined. The Bill of Rights thus will allow Mr. Duplessis to continue his repeated invasions of personal free-dom unless the courts stop him by re-interpreting the Canadian con-stitution.

Already they have quashed the notorious Quebec Padlock law but not because it invades personal freedom. It was quashed only because it trenches on criminal law, the exclusive area of federal jurisdiction.

Some great judges of the Su-preme Court, like the late Sir Lyman Duff, have declared that Canadian citizens inherited all the safeguards of the British Bill of Rights in the preamble to the British North America Act, but the so-called Duff Doctrine has never been accepted by a majority of the Supreme Court. Hence, by skilful constitutional wangling, Mr. Duplessis is still able to interfere with personal freedom in various subtle ways. And the Bill of Rights, as it stands, will not interfere with him.

This is what worries lawyers like Dean Laskin and Professor Scott. But a layman may see certain preliminary gains even in a Bill of Rights which carefully avoids the real problem. For at least Parffament, in this statute, will declare its belief in civil liberties and codify them so far as its own jurisdiction is concerned. It will make a hopeful gesture in the right direction.

Moreover, if both the Liberal and Conservative Governments of the past and present have been afraid to tackle the real problem, lest they antagonize Mr. Duplessis, some day we may elect a govern-ment which is not afraid. It can then build on the thin foundation now

Towards the Round Table

L IKE BRICKS IN A WALL, THE indications are mounting that an international conference will be held to decide the future of Berlin and perhaps of East and West

Mr. Mikovan throughout his U.S. visit stressed the importance of holding such talks. As a prelude to his visit, Moscow had tried to force the issue by serving what amounted to an ultimatum on the Allies to remove their troops from West Berlin.

Mr. Foster Dulles has called on Britain and France to come forward with suggestions for discussion of a German settlement. Prime Minister Macmillan has expressed interest in further talks. The world appears to be moving slowly toward another conference—if not at the summit at least at a high level.

There are certain basic facts about a German settlement, however, which are not likely to have changed. The West will not let a communist East Germany dominate democratic West Germany. Russia, on the other hand, is not likely to agree to free elections in East Germany, which would pose the serious risk of losing that satellite.

Some sort of federation, under which both halves of Germany would maintain their separate identities yet combine for certain purposes, appears to be the most probable compromise solution. Moscow has already advanced this suggestion, the West has shown some terest despite preliminary objections.

There will, of course, be many difficulties to overcome, not least of which is the wish of many interests to see Germany remain in its present divided state. Even the Germans are not willing to achieve reunification "at any price."

But the current moves give hope that the present hang-fire situation will not continue indefinitely. The feet are dragging, but they appear to be headed for the round table.

Such has been the experience on other centres where family courts operate.

A unification of the court throughout the Greater Victoria district would also add to its efficiency, providing the same treatment for all, regardless of municipal boundaries. Records would be more coherent, and some of the difficulties of administration would be overcome.

The mayor is to be commended on the constructive approach he has taken to the matter.

CARE FOR A CAREER?

By B. A. TOBIN

Let's All Be Firemen

ONE of the standard questions in my of preference or suitability, and stick with it. All honor to a man who, faced adults of all youngsters, was: "Well, with such a "choice", can win through to young fellow, and what are you going to be when you grow up?" Nowadays

I suppose the answer vould be, by the TVsmart progeny of our era: "How about you, when YOU grow up, Mac?" But in my day we spoke right up and announced our ambi-tion as "a fireman." policeman, wood truck driver," and such other alluring occupations as had ne within our limited knowledge. Few. of such declarations turned out to be accurate. There would be an awful glut of firemen and policemen today if they had. But the announcements at the time were usually very definite. The life career was already chosen, and it stretched glamorously ahead.

A little later, after a few more birthdays had been celebrated, the ambition would have changed a little.

Gradually almost unpoticeably the

Gradually, almost unnoticeably, the wish to be a fireman dwindled perhaps revived spasmodically when a fire engine thundered through the streets with siren screaming and firemen hanging non-chalantly on the back footboard—but definitely, out as a serious career.

No Details

The answer to the question of future occupation now became: "an engineer," and most questioners were satisfied to leave it at that, never pursuing their in vestigation to find out whether it was an electrical, steam, chemical, civil of other engineer that was in mind.

Nowadays, of course, the answers are equally hopeful, but only the very, very young are attracted by wood trucks, fire engines, the policeman's beat or the milk delivery route as being glamorous.

At a fairly early age the modern youngster decides he will be a space ship pilot, an atomic scientist, or some such adventiser. The modern to has hitched his little red wagon to a star, and he is as determined to go to the moon as he used to be to roar off to a burning house on the next street.

Perhaps the percentage of accuracy in such intentions will be no higher than spirit is evident

Early Choice

There appear to be two main ways in which a man's career is actually de-termined. Somewhere in the late teens he decides on the one type of work he prefers above all others and aims his studies towards a mastery of it either in school, in apprenticeship or on the

Or he may remain undecided for a much longer period, trying one likely type of work after another until he falls into the slot which suits him best. This is a much more precarious method but can lead to very satisfactory results.

A third method is when one is forced to take the first available job, regardless happiness and success.

In these modern days of organization, co-ordination, preparation, effective living and all the other aids to happiness, it is becoming more and more difficult for a youth to get out of his teens with-out coming to a decision regarding his

At earlier and earlier ages the children of today are being counselled and advised on vocations, and pushed into choosing a job to last them the rest of their lives.

Such choices were once left to the university student, and even the graduate. Later they were advanced to the high school period, where you had to decide on commercial, technical or general courses-the latter leading to uni versity studies.

Guessing Right

These were fairly broad classifica But today the student must choose courses even as early as junior high school which will profoundly affect his future schooling career and his life

One expert in this field has described the youth faced with the employmen training decision in these words: "H is like a hungry child with a coin look-ing at a long counter of sweets that he has never tasted. He must decide on the purchase—and he doesn't even know the value of his money." It must be a puzzling and frightening choice for the youngster of 12 or 13 who must guess what he will be happy doing when he is a man of 30 or 40. On the other hand, perhaps this trend is forced by the greater specialization, the greater complexity, the greater factual mands of modern occupations.

You have to know earlier what you're going to do because you have to train longer to do it. This makes it much more difficult for the man who wants to shop around for a few years before deciding.

Security Urge

The relatively hit or miss methods of earlier times resulted in many a round peg in a square hole. Discontent with one's job in life was almost a universal complaint, although it may not always have been a legitimate one.

The greater security-consciousness of today tends to make any job look good. For oldsters burned by the Hungry Thirties and youngsters frightened by tales of them, a job has a virtue of its own, quite apart from whether it is a 'good' jeb or not.

In many of the career choices made these days security may play a great part. But this criterion may not be the proper one to ensure future happiness. Dullness and monotony could become even worse hazards than insecurity in some circumstances.

It was so much simpler just wanting to be a fireman. With a world on the brink of bursting into flames, perhaps that's not such a bad idea after all.

Uneasy Union Men

Re Mr. Partridge's letter entitled 'The Pay Scale, Mr. Starr," in your lasue of Jan. 19.

I believe the government is trying to do what it can in the matter. But it should not lose sight of the fact that "victory comes to the swift" and that the power of unions should be rigidly controlled, if not entirely abolished, and all strikes made illegal. There is no doubt that many members, belonging to these unions are living in a state of uneasiness. I can niving in a state of uneasiness. I am fully qualified for my next promotion but remain at the bottom of the promotion list and junior rates are jumping ahead of me. Why? Well, I'm told that I lack leadership. Indirectly it all reflects back to the colored fellows in the outfit. I have seen Indians do things that make me ashamed that I'm part Indian, and on

Does she not think that the pulp workers' strike of last year might have been forced on the worker because of over-production in the North Carolina mills?

They lost some few weeks work and will take years for them to recover their lost wages from their small in-crease. Does she not feel there might be a slight touch of "Pinky-ism" in our current troubles with the IWA and the SIU?

Sincere Appreciation Please permit me through your me-dium to express the sincere apprecia-tion of the 50-Up Club, Langford, for the assistance that has made possible the handing over by the building com-munity of the new hall.

This has been a tremendous project by members of this age group and without the co-operation of non-members would have been impossible.

It is impossible to thank individually everyone, but to those good folk who have contributed financially, the trades-men who donated their skill, the donors of furnishings, the goodwill of mer-chants, the men who have done the actual manual work, the club can only say a humble and sincere "THANK YOU".

FROM LONDON

The Man of Mystery

IT was in 1950 that I first met Rus-I sia's new security chief. At this time he was head of the Student and Youth Organization of the Soviet Union, and visited Leeds to attend the National Union of Students' Congress, which I was helping to organize at the uni-

Before I went down to the station to meet him Mr. Shelepin was already a man of mystery.

For some weeks we had been the recipients of lengthy telegrams and long-distance telephone calls from Prague requesting information about the arrangements. Eventually we heard that he had arrived in London and was taking a night train to Leeds.

My friend Martin and I went down to meet him in Martin's prewar cab. The party which alighted from the train at 2 a.m. consisted of four people—Mr. Shelepin, his interpreter, an enormous Ukrainian, and poor Joza Grohman, then president of the International Union of Students, but later disgraced during the Czech purges. (We were told that he had been put to work for the government.)

When we had recovered from the bear hug of the Ukrainian we set off for the Hall of Residence, where supper and rooms had been booked for our visitors. We never got there. Mr. Shelepin insisted on an hotel.

Morning Talks

We pleaded that he had asked for opportunities to meet British students, and that he was more likely to meet them in a hall of residence than in an hotel. At 3 a.m. we persuaded an hotel to take them, but there was only one room available. They said that they wanted to have a conference, so it did not matter that there was only

Later in the week we did persuade them to go to a student hostel, but I don't think that they made much effort to meet the students, because when they got home they wrote in World Student News that they had not had

Student News that they had not had the opportunity.

It puzzled me that they always seemed to know what the "ordinary" British student thought about such matters as the war in Korea; or "peace," or the Foreign Office spies who controlled the NUS.

Our visitors also asked for the op-portunity to meet the "workers". At the time I was living in lodgings, and my landlord was an engineering ver and a Communist. I thought it would be interesting to take them home for supper one night, but Mr. Shelepin thought that I would get into trouble with the police and declined the

Close Call

On another occasion I arranged for flats. We actually set off on this occasion, and even reached the flats, but at the last minute Mr. Shelepin changed his mind, and we returned to the university.

The press frequently, distinct the university in order to interview our visitors. Shelepin claimed not to understand English and all our conversation was carried on through the interpreter, Mr. Vdovin.

He was the perfect interpreter ourteous, even charming, and co courteous, pletely self-effacing. I must have heard the following conversation a dozen times during the week: Reporter: How old are you, Mr. Vdovin (in Russian): How old are Vdovin: Mr. Shelepin says he is 31.

Culture was another topic in which Mr. Shelepin was interested, and he asked if he might see something of our theatres. This sounded promising. There was a good program at the local Civic Theatre—an historical play with social significance—but this was politely turned down.

We bought a local paper and went We bought a local paper and went through the list—it was a dismal pros-pect. A bedroom farce, an American musical, and a leg show. Mr. Vdovin asked whether we had an ice show— this was the only entertainment for which our visitors displayed any en-

Cultural Visit

Alas, Manchester had one, but not Leeds. I was about to suggest a concert when Vdovin asked to borrow the paper, and after a ong discussion asked if I would take them to "City Varieties" to see a show called "Stars and Strips."

I did my best to head them off, but the more I protested the more insistent they became. We set off early, and I took them into a pub nearby. No vodka. Eventually they settled for whisky and beer. They drank the whisky but left the beer, probably because they did not like it, but possibly also to escape a drunk who in-sisted on trying to sell them raffle tickets.

I am not sure what they made of a show, but we left before the end, and the only comment that Mr. Shele-pin made was during a particularly low strip tease act, when he turned to the interpreter and muttered something in Russian, which was interpreted as "Mr. Shelepin says you ought to come to Moscow. We have a much better ballet than this!"

I think that at this point his com-passion must have got the better of him, for he asked if I would take them to the best hotel in town, and there they stood me a four-course dinner.

More Mellow

After a few whiskles they mellowed considerably, and on the way home in Martin's taxicab we persuaded Mr. Shelepin to sing "The Song of the Volga Boatmen." There was rumor that he was related to his namesake, Fyodor, and he certainly possessed a powerful bass voice.

We met again in the summer, in Prague, where he gave a wonderful demonstration of chairmanship by leading a hostile demonstration against a Dariish speaker who had criticized the Stockholm Peace Appeal. After a few whiskies they mellowed

The Dane had spoken for twenty minutes against a barrage of heckling and Mr. Shelepin said that he had ex-ceeded his time. To put matters right he then gave a 90-minute herangue from the chair, and closed the session.

from the chair, and closed the session.

I never had the opportunity to take up with him one or two points about British students and their culture, which had appeared under his name in the report he made in Komsomolskaya Pravda after his visit to Leeds.

I doubt whether I could have convinced him that we too had a better ballet than "Siars and Strips," and that the bald-headed gentlemen on the front row at the Varieties were prob-

LONDON-Of the 500 new novels published in Britain each week, the influential Sunday Times seldom deigns to review more than four. So an author can count himself lucky if he rates a Sunday Times review for a work of fiction.

I was happy to see that among those privileged this week is Colin McDougall, who tets a very full write up for his story of he Canadian troops in Italy, Execution.

McDougall's character, Brigadier Kildare, is regarded as "a splendid creation," though the paper feels that he borrowed from Evelyn Waugh in portraying the brigadier, which I doubt.

Summing up, the Sun-day Times says: "Alto-gether an uneven novel, but with one episode of chilling power and some superb battleshots."

If British schoolboys had their way British railways would never have embarked on their present policy of conversion from steam to diesel locomotives. At a schoolboys' exhibition a group of them were polled on what sort of engines they preferred, with the result: steam 224, diesel 57, electric 45, gas turbine 12. To heck with scientific advance—there's something much more romantic about the old steam locos.

One policy can insure this whole family

As THE HEAD of the family, you naturally want to carry enough insurance to provide for your family, if something should happen to you. It is also a sound plan to carry some insurance on your wife and children.

With the new Metropolitan Family Plan, you can have additional permanent insurance on yourself and provide insurance on the lives of your family all at the same time ... and with just one policy.

Here are some of the provisions of this plan: For You: Permanent Life insurance with regular cash and loan values . . . and the additional advantage of reduced premiums guaranteed for the first five years that the policy is in effect.

For Your Wife: Term insurance on her life of about one-fourth the amount of your insurance under this policy. It continues in effect until the time you are or would have been 85.

For your children between the ages of 14 days and 18 years - term insurance on each child until age 25. The premium is the same regardless of the number of children, and those born after the policy comes into effect will be automatically covered after they are 14 days old.

A further important advantage for your children is that when each child reaches age 25, he or she can take out permanent insurance of up to five times the amount of the term insurance without medical examination.

Another feature of the Metropolitan Family Plan is this: in the case of your death, your wife and children receive the benefits from your insurance, and the insurance on their lives continues in effect without further premium payments.

You will find that this is an ideal policy to add to your present insurance or to cover your wife and children. Ask your Metropolitan Representative to explain all of its many desirable features. He will be pleased to do so without any obligation on your part.

Record Sales

VANCOUVER-Record sales in 1958 helped Crown Zeller-bach Canada Limited-increase tits net income over 1957, but this was still 29 per cent be-low earnings reached in 1956, the company's "last normal operating year."

In an advance summary of operating results for 1958, president Peter T. Sinclair announced that combined dollar Cash Grain Close — nounced that combined dollar — sales of all the company's forest products in 1958 totalled — $84.8 million. This was an increase of 7.7 per cent over grain futures contracts ranged both above and below Friday's closes today. Wheat, the strongest grain in — was recorded in 1956.

Net income in 1958 after providing for deferred income taxes was $5.6 million, com-pared with $3.7 million in 1957, on a comparable basis, an in-crease of 51.1 per cent. Net income in 1956 on this basis was $7.9 million, Mr. Sinclair said.

Operating results in both 1957 and 1958 were "distorted" by the effects of the pulp and paper strike which closed the company's primary pulp and paper mills for the last seven weeks of 1957 and the first five weeks of 1958, Mr. Sin-clair said.

"Our 1958 earnings should also be appraised in relation to major investments in new plants which we have made in the past three years," he said. "Since 1956, we have invested $35.5 million to increase our production facilities. This has increased the manufacturing capacity for all our forest products by 75 per cent. The full benefits of this capital investment are thus still to be realized."

There's no juvenile delinquency problem in the province of Bihar, India—although its population is almost as great as Britain's.

Nural Haque, Bihar's inspector general of prisons, who is visiting Victoria, said drug addiction, alcoholism and sex problems among teenagers were practically nonexistent ameng his province's 40,000,000 inhabitants.

'Thia is mainly due to family compactness and parental control," he explained.

Bt. Mr. Haque said civil authorities in Bihar feared there would be an increase in crime and juvenile delinquency with the growth of industrialization in the agrarian province.

5,821 Jobless Registered In Victoria

Men seeking work decreased numbers but there was a sharp increase in women hunt-ing jobs last week, the Na-tional Employment Office re-

Men dropped from 4,064 to 3,952, but this improvement was more than offset by women job-seekers which increased 177 during the week to a present total of 1,869.

Unemployed registered here total 5,821, practically the same as recorded a year ago—5,819. Men are 444 less than a year ago; women 446 more

Improved male employment has been caused by construc-tion increase, resumption of logging and sawmill operations, and various public works programs.

Steady increase in women registering for employment is largely accounted for by sea-sonal lay-offs in the retail seeking employment for economic reasons, in many cases due to unemployed husbands.

mosquitoes. As the saying goes, some of my best friends are mosquitoes.

And I do not have any objection to a mosquito using my bathroom. Mosquitoes are entitled to the same regits and privileges as anyone else.

But the problem remains, what is a mosquito doing in the bathroom at this time of year?

My first inclination, of course, is to telephone the papers and get them to send photographers to take pictures of the first mosquito of the summer of 1959.

But what if the mosquito is not the first mosquito of What if he is a mosquito left over from last summer? And how can I tell if he is a 1959 mosquito or a 1958 mosquito?

If he were a horse, I could tell by his teeth.

This mosquito in our bathroom, however, appear to have teeth, although I admit he has bitten me. So I cannot be sure he is the first mosquito of 1959, and therefore hesitate to telephone the papers, for I would not wish them to send high priced reporters and photo-graphers running and then find my mosquito was a left-

LET'S FACE FACTS: The daily cost of living consumes your entire monthly earnings.

Lucky is the family who can bank any portion of their monthly income. The endless parade of monthly expenses is topped by food, which is the largest and most consistent expense that you will ever have to meet.

Therefore, if it were possible for you to buy your food, staples, as well as perishables, on a wholesale basis, it is reasonable to assume that you will save money.

PITY THIS POOR SALESWOMAN:

For the sake of customers nd sales people, I hope you will publish my recent experience and offer comments or suggestions. Just before Christmas, I had a specific item to purchase in an exclusive g i f t shop specializing in imports. After-waiting exactly 35 min. Louise utes, I gave up and left. Of, the two saleswomen one was the two saleswomen, one was taking care of a bride-elect and her mother who were ordering the two saleswo a number of things. The other poor woman was politely tak-ing up her valuable time with "customer" who, I later ound out, had no intention of buying anything, but kept ask-ing the prices of items, then saving. "I got the very same saving. I got the very same thing a year ago in Copen-hagen (or in Italy, or in France, or in Switzerland) for-less than half the price." The saleswoman needs a pat on the back for she showed no outward sign of impatience or frustration.

Especially made with the women over 30 in mind is this estrogenic hormone cream for face, neck and hands. A large lar of the famous name cream sells normally at $7.50. For a short while only it is $4.50. What a buy!

Save pennies galore on this shampoo, hair spray special!

A high quality, well-known shampoo company will give you a can of good hair spray with the large size shampoo for only $1.75.

A made with the shappon cover and hurry down to the shop and hurry down to the shop and hurry down to the shop and purchase several!

A breath of spring on a dreary morning! That's what the sight of the Japanese plum to me today. I hurried into and bought a bunch right away. Just 49 cents for a great of the saleswoman from excusing herself, as everyone who enters a store must be considered a potential buyer. Seventy precious minutes of two people's time (yours and the saleswoman's) amounted to a total loss because a very thoughtless. Teeners! You can perk up your wardrobes with addition of one or two of these smartly styled tweed and wool skirts priced at $6.99.

In sizes up to 20, the pencil slim, slightly flared skirts will be right for you. There are all colors in the collection orary president is Mrs. Mug might have transacted the sale in that way even without a charge account. A shopper's time can be valuable too.

Rev PHILLER, Times TV Editor

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

STUDY OF VALUES-It would be trite to say that Playhouse 90 had done it again. So I'll be trite—Playhouse 90 has done it again.

Under its august banner last Thursday evening some of the best in the small screen biz, namely Emmy-winning playwright Rod ("Requiem for a Heavy-weight," "The Comedian") Serling, Art Carney, Katherine Bard, Jack Klugman and Les-lie Nielsen banded together in "The Velvet Alley" to serve up about as tasty a 90-minute TV dish as one could hope to sample.

TV TEE-HEES

"They're all working and eating

Oh how good it was nded 1 side 2 sides $3.25 $4.16 $5.76 $4.20 $5,44 $7.04 $6.00 $6.8 $3.48 $6.00 $6.8 $3.48 $6.90 $18.16 $5.76 hamburgers, the peanut $3.00 $8.44 $11.04 butter sandwiches and liquorice all-sorts for an honest-to-gosh help-ing of hot roast beef, mashed potatoes and green peas of heart- to play 'SLIM'I" flipping drama. Serling is magnificent at this. In the first few scenes he gives two you the nub of the plot and spends the rest of the time.

18.72 thumping his points home in a non-preachy, life-like manner. Once again Carney proved that his year in a serious drama on Broadway had not gone wasted. It ironed out the "sewer man" in him that had been instilled through years of being Jackie Gleason's second banana in the "Honeymooners" skits. It has smoothed out his angularities and awkwardness. It has left him with a surer sense of timing and, above all, it has left him with a confidence in himself and his art. Because of this, in a matter of a comparatively we weeks, he was able to demonstrate his flexibility PAYMENT UNTIL and his versatility, moving from a comedy such as "Harvey" into an outright dramatist as the middle aged writer who made his exit from poverty only to lose his wife, his father, his best friend and his soul in the big-time of Hollywood.

But Carney was not alone. Klugman, as Carney's agent who finally got him his first big break, was simply immense. Long after The Velvet Alley" was over perhaps one remembered him the longest of all. He was so very real and down to earth, the epitom of the kind of guy you would like best to call friend.

THEN THERE WAS NIELSEN as the TV show's producer, a hollow man who swilled "Bloody Mary's" for breakfast to generate in himself just that right amount of confidence before tackling his next rehearsal. And let's not forget Miss Bard as Carney's wife, the woman who had stood by him in the lean days but couldn't stand him at the feast or, for that matter, any of them, George Voskovec, Alexander Scourby any of them, George and Bonita Granville.

But in the end the triumph was again Playho 90's. Once more the show had proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that good theatre can be produced on 21 inches of glass just as surely as it can be produced on the legitimate stage or on the limitless screens of the cinema.

I only hope that the others, the rest of them who daily provide the bulk of the stuff that makes an idiot out of even the "Idiot's Lantern," will some-MONEY IS READY day profit by such efforts and pull up their socks and WHEN YOU NEED IT try to do better in their own fields.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

The delightful child born Tuesday will early balk at following standardized rules and regulations, since the temperament is a highly volatile one. But it is your duty to early impress the extreme importance of following in the accepted path so that the finest practical steps can be taken easily throughout life. This guards against too much emotionalism and a fine career can be had by him or her without too much

The club stated in a letter that fishermen alone spent over $28,000,000 in B.C. in 1957, and that 75 per cent of all tourists visiting the province each year come here to fish.

Statistics compiled by the club for Mr. Strachan's use show that while the sale of hunting and fishing licences in B.C. in 1957 raised a total of $1,381,005, the total budget for the game branch last year was only $1,051,000.

The club also will recom-mend that provision be made in the game branch budget for the hiring of a safety super-visor to check on hunters.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) - Trade was very slow today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange with some evidence of export interest in barley.

Oats trading produced a few domestic feed orders. Prices were somewhat irregular and moved narrowly. Flax prices showed hesitation in moder-ately active trade. Rye trade eased on some selling influ-enced by extension of delivery quotas in Alberta.

Weekend export loadings of Canadian wheat included: South Africa 380,000, United Kingdom 335,000, Republic of Ireland 130,000, The Netherlands 65,000, West Germany 45,000, Belgium 20,000.

Record Sales Reported For 'Crown Z'

VANCOUVER-Record sales in 1958 helped Crown Zeller-bach Canada Limited increase its net income over 1957, but this was still 29 per cent be-low earnings reached in 1956, the company's "last normal operating year."

In an advance summary of operating results for 1958. president Peter T. Sinclair anounced that combined dollar sales of all the company's forest products in 1958 totalled $84.8 million. This was an increase of 7.7 per cent over $78.8 million in 1957. The previous high of $79.5 million was recorded in 1956.

Net income in 1958 after providing for deferred income taxes was $5.6 million, com-pared with $3.7 million in 1957. on a comparable basis, an in-crease of 51.1 per cent. Net income in 1956 on this basis was $7.9 million, Mr. Sinclair Operating results in both by the effects of the pulp and paper strike which closed the company's primary pulp and paper mills for the last seven weeks of 1957 and the first five weeks of 1958, Mr. Sinclair said.

"Our 1958 earnings also be appraised in relation to major investments in new plants which we have made in the past three years," he said. "Since 1956, we have invested $35.5 million to increase production facilities. This has capacity for all our forest products by 75 per cent. The full benefits of this capital in-vestment are thus still to be realized." increased the manufacturing

Amount of the sale was not lisclosed.

The company plans to after the main flow of the sale was not lisclosed.

And I do not have any objection to a mosquito using my bathroom. Mosquitoes are entitled to the same rights, and privileges as anyone else.

But the problem remains, what is a mosquitation in the bathroom at this time of year?

My first inclination, of course, is to telephone the papers and get them to send photographers to take pictures of the first mosquito of the summer of 1959.

But what if the mosquito is not the first mosquito of 1959?

What if he is a mosquito left over from last summer? And how can I tell it he is a 1959 mosquito or a 1958

If he were a how I could tell by his teeth.

This mosquite in our bathroom, however, does not appear to have teeth, although I admit he has bitten me. So I cannot be sure he is the first mosquito of 1959. and therefore hesitate to telephone the papers, for I would not wish them to send high priced reporters and photo-graphers running and then find my mosquito was a leftover mosquito from last season.

The trouble with mosquitoes in this area, they cannot tell when one summer ends and the next summer starts.

It must be very confusing.

A bulwark against privation in old age; a source of new confidence for young families who face the future alone . . . these are the roles life insurance is playing for MANUFACTURERS LIFE policyholders and their beneficiaries who received $48,476,032 in policy benefits

Sound management policies and prudent investment operations continue to earn for the Company an enviable reputation for financial strength and solid growth. The MANUFACTURERS LIFE Annual Report for 1958 shows assets of $819,795,409 - more than ample to fulfil future obligations to pay the benefits promised in our policy contracts. The net rate of interest carned after deduction of investment expenses was 5.11%.

The 72nd Annual Report also shows that more than 42,000 people purchased $430,287,103 of new insurance from MANUFACTURERS LIFE. The Company now provides a total of $2,882,174,877 in insurance protection for more than half a million policyholders. During 1958 a plan for mutualization was approved which, when complete, will place ownership of the MANUFACTURERS LIFE in the hands of policyholders.
